1. Background

Inuka (Rise up) is an initiative established in 2009 to address the crisis Kenya faces in light of the effects of the violence that followed the 2007 general election (PEV) as well as the social, demographic, environmental and governance transitions currently underway in the country. The initiative was established as Inuka Kenya Trust in 2009 and later changed status as a company limited by guarantee with no share capital, incorporated on 19 June, 2012.

The heart of Inuka's work is the Ni Sisi! Social movement ("Ni Sisi), a membership based, grassroots movement undertaking to unite Kenyans to forge a collective identity to drive transformation in leadership and improve maisha (employment, security, health, education, clean water) for all Kenyans. Ni Sisi's activities are divided between a Nationwide campaign that promotes the core values of Heshima (respect and dignity for all), Diversity (equality and ethnic inclusiveness) and Ni Sisi (It is us!-self-belief) and direct mobilization and organizing of community based Ni Sisi! Chapters.

Its activities are focused on the following key pillars;

- Transformational social and civic engagement - This encompasses taking charge of the public space currently dominated by the political class and transforming it into lasting change created by and for Kenyans.
- Creation of a collective identity, through shared experiences, hardships, and diversity (ethnicity) as the glue that binds, builds a critical mass of like minded people/groups working towards a better Kenya.
